Brown Man Clothing Co. Launches Its Controversial Funky Urban South Asian Streetwear Apparel Line

By Brown Man Clothing Co.

Dated: 2007-09-11 14:09:04

Focusing on all aspects of the South Asian culture, Brown Man Clothing Co. is the first cultural clothing line to launch provoking and edgy designs for all South Asian markets.

The controversy all started with a simple concept, "Hijabis' Are Hot!" This shirt depicts an image of a traditional Islamic woman wearing a headscarf known as a 'hijab'. The cultural ideology is that women that wear the hijab are modest and religious. Brown Man Clothing Co. became under a lot of criticism over this image, especially from conservative Muslims. By explaining the company's stance on the image, it has become their number one seller.

Brown Man Clothing Co. launches its Funky Urban Streetwear Clothing Line. It can be viewed at www.brownmanclothing.com.

With over 25 images available, the Brown Man Clothing Co. prides itself on touching on all aspects of the South Asian culture and not just a select few like most Asian shirt companies.
